MARKET COMMENTARY

The Aussie market had another negative day despite global funds trying to defend a losing trade. They are buying banks and miners to hold the market up despite falling currency. RBA basically confirmed they are not even looking at cuts with risk of rising inflation in 2025. Inflation is rising around the world, and we are starting to ramp up geopolitics with trade wars coming in Jan. Growth stocks are getting hit hard and we may get more as China stimulus fake stories fade as usual. China keeps saying that they will support growth more for nearly 2 years and markets gets excited before being disappointed again. It's the China pump and dump cycle. Japan and South Korea are classic example of economies in political mess as slowing growth bites. Then we can move to Middle East mess when Russian backed dictator has been replaced by US/Israel backed terror group commander to lead Syria. Given the track record of US sponsored leadership changes in the Middle East is like getting in an Uber with Stevie Wonder driving. It may be different this time!

CNBC on China trade data > China's exports and imports both missed expectations in November, data from the country's customs authority showed Tuesday, fueling worries over the health of the Chinese economy as consumer demand remains sluggish and tariff threats loom. Import data surprised with a decline of 3.9%, marking the sharpest fall since September 2023. Analysts had expected imports to grow 0.3%. Exports rose 6.7% in U.S. dollar terms from a year ago, sharply lower than the 12.7% growth in the previous month. Analysts in a Reuters poll had expected exports to climb 8.5% from a year ago in November. The exports slowdown in November does not "mark an end of China's recent export boom," Zichun Huang, China economist at Capital Economics said in a note on Tuesday, adding that while U.S. tariffs could reduce export volumes by around 3%, "they may not be felt until the middle of next year." In the short run, the tariff threats "may even spur exports as U.S. firms ramp up orders" for Chinese goods, Huang added. Meanwhile, import volumes may also recover in the short term, as accelerated fiscal spending boosts demand for industrial commodities, Huang said. China's exports to all its major trading partners — the U.S., European Union and Association of Southeast Asian Nations — all rose in November from a year earlier. Exports to ASEAN countries increased the most, up by nearly 15%, according to CNBC's analysis of the official data. Imports from its largest trading partner ASEAN fell 3%. China's exports to the U.S. increased 8% on year while imports fell over 11%. The country's exports to European Union jumped 7.2% while imports shrank 6.5% from a year ago. China's exports to Russia were down by 2.5% while imports dropped by 6.5%. The volume of China's rare earths exports rose nearly 5% from a year ago in November, shipping out 4,416 metric tons of the minerals, used in products ranging from electric vehicles to consumer electronics. Cumulative exports in the months through November this year rose 6.6% from a year ago.

Historically, 75% of retail investors have experienced losses during positive market periods. Investors are now facing market cycles that are unprecedented in their lifetime, making risk management a crucial aspect of investing. Going forward, the trend towards active investing is reemerging as investors seek quality, relative value, profitability, and dividends. To navigate this new paradigm, it's important to have an active investment strategy that is flexible and adaptable to changing market conditions!

Australian Trading Day Market Report

The annual inflation rate in Mexico eased to 4.55% in November of 2024 from 4.76% in the previous month, loosely in line with market expectations of 5.59% to mark the slowest pace of inflation since March. Consumer costs slowed sharply for housing and utilities (3.24% vs 3.72% in October) and food and nonalcoholic beverages (6.03% vs 6.23%), despite remaining elevated. Still, prices refrained from falling for restaurants and lodging (steady at 6.84%) and rose faster for transportation (4.42% vs 4.35%). In turn, core inflation eased to 3.58% in the period from 3.8% last month, the lowest since April 2020.

US wholesale inventories rose by 0.2% month-over-month to $905 billion in October 2024, in line with the preliminary estimate and following a 0.2% decrease in the prior month. Stocks of non-durable goods rose by 0.3%, following a 0.4% increase in September, primarily groceries (+1.6%), drugs (+1.1%) and miscellaneous products (+0.7%). Meanwhile, durable inventories rose by 0.1%, after a 0.6% decrease in the prior month, with notable increases seen for computer equipment (+2.9%), furniture (+2.7%) and professional equipment (+2.6%). On a yearly basis, wholesale inventories increased by 0.9% in October, matching the preliminary reading.

US consumer inflation expectations for the year ahead increased to 3% in November 2024 from 2.9% in October which was the lowest since October 2020. Consumers expect prices to increase faster for medical care (+0.2 percentage point to 6%) and college education (+1.0 percentage point to 6.7%). In contrast, median price growth expectations were unchanged at 3% for home and declined for gas (-0.5 percentage point to 2.7%), food (-0.5 percentage point to 3.8%) and rent (-0.2 percentage point to 5.7%). Inflation expectations also increased for the three-year-ahead (2.6% vs 2.5%) and the five-year outlook (2.9% vs 2.8%).

China's trade surplus surged to USD 97.44 billion in November 2024 from USD 69.45 billion in the same period a year earlier, surpassing expectations of USD 95 billion. It was the largest trade surplus since June, as exports grew while imports fell. Sales grew 6.7% yoy, below forecasts of 8.5%, easing from a 12.7% jump in October, but marking the largest value in 26 months, as manufacturers front-loaded orders in anticipation of further tariffs from the US and the EU. Meanwhile, imports unexpectedly dropped 3.9%, following a 2.3% fall in October and missing consensus of a 0.3% rise due to weak domestic demand. The trade surplus with the US widened to USD 34.9 billion in November from USD 33.5 billion in October. For the first eleven months of 2024, the trade surplus was at USD 884.7 billion, with exports advancing 5.4% to USD 3.24 trillion while imports rose at a softer 1.2% to USD 2.36 trillion. During the period, the trade surplus with the US stood at USD 326.8 billion.

Australia's NAB business confidence index plunged to -3 in November 2024 from a near two-year top of 5 in the prior month, falling below its long-term average due to declines across most industries, except for construction. Meanwhile, business conditions sank to their lowest since late 2020 (2 vs 7 in October), with all sub-components now at or below average: sales (8 vs 13), profitability (5 vs -1), and employment (2 vs 3). Activity shrank across all industries, with retail and manufacturing seeing the worst conditions. Labor cost growth in quarterly terms was unchanged (at 1.4%) while purchase cost growth ticked up to 1.1%. Product price growth stayed at 0.6%, with retail price growth slowing (0.6% vs 1.1%). Forward orders fell further (-5 vs -3). Capex rose slightly (10 vs 8), amid stable capacity utilization at 82.4%. "The survey points to ongoing soft growth in Q4... it will likely take more time for price pressures to normalize fully," said NAB chief economist Alan Oster.
