MARKET COMMENTARY

The Aussie market was mainly boring and flat all day on low turnover. Global funds started to take profit in their favorite top two big caps in CBA and BHP but had to turn that around as the market started to roll over. US market remains stretched after the buyback boosted bounce from tariff threatened pullback left the market with no real upside. Trump et al are jumping from one scare story to another. We just flashed 100% tariff on movies with no detail or how it was going to be executed but the market is expecting semiconductor tariffs coming soon. Taiwan dollar spiked against USD in the last 24 hours as insiders start trading for the risk to TSMC that makes all the chips for everyone including Nvidia to Apple. US is going to try and bully TSMC to move production to US. The reality is that Taiwan's protection is purely reliant on TSMC. If TSMC moves production outside Taiwan, no one will defend it. Gold is flying again. Inflation is flashing red and central banks are flashing denial. RBA is a bubble feeder. AMP providing 10-year interest only home loan is peak bad policy outcome but it will get worse. It may be different this time!

CNBC on US tariff on China retail > The closure of a trade loophole and prohibitive tariffs on China have upended Temu and Shein's business model in the United States. And yet the e-commerce companies are likely to remain a dominant force in American online retailing, experts suggest. On Friday, the de minimis rule — a policy that had exempted U.S. imports worth $800 from trade tariffs — officially closed for shipments from China. This has seen Temu and Shein exposed to duties as high as 120% or a flat fee of $100, set to rise to $200 in June. The small-package tariff exemption had been key to the companies' ability to maintain budget prices on the merchandise they shipped from China. In the lead-up to its removal, prices of goods shipped directly from China on Temu and Shein surged, with Temu later ending direct shipments from outside the U.S. altogether.

CNBC on Buff retires > Warren Buffett dropped something of a bombshell at this year's meeting for Berkshire Hathaway shareholders on Saturday, announcing that he'd ask the board to replace him as CEO at the end of the year, with longtime heir apparent Greg Abel. The Oracle of Omaha received an ovation upon sharing the news, which he met with his trademark wit. "The enthusiasm shown by the audience's response can be interpreted in two ways," Buffett, 94, said. "But I'll take it as positive." No kidding. If you want to know what Berkshire shareholders think of their CEO, take a look at his track record. Berkshire Hathaway's stock rose by 5,502,284% between the time Buffett took the helm in 1965 and year-end 2024, according to the company's most recent annual report. The S&P 500 delivered a total return of 39,054% over the same period.

Historically, 75% of retail investors have experienced losses during positive market periods. Investors are now facing market cycles that are unprecedented in their lifetime, making risk management a crucial aspect of investing. Going forward, the trend towards active investing is reemerging as investors seek quality, relative value, profitability, and dividends. To navigate this new paradigm, it's important to have an active investment strategy that is flexible and adaptable to changing market conditions!

The ISM Services PMI unexpectedly jumped to 51.6 in April 2025 from a nine-month low of 50.8 in March and above forecasts of 50.6. New orders (52.3 vs 50.4) and inventories (53.4 vs 50.3) grew at a faster rate and business activity remained in expansion territory (53.7 vs 55.9). Also, employment continued to contract although at a slower pace (49 vs 46.2). Meanwhile, there was a slower supplier delivery performance (51.3 vs 50.6) and price pressures jumped to the highest since February 2023 (65.1 vs 60.9). "Regarding tariffs, respondents cited actual pricing impacts as concerns, more so than uncertainty and future pressures. Respondents continue to mention federal agency budget cuts as a drag on business, but overall, results are improving", according to Steve Miller, Chair of the Institute for Supply Management Services Business Survey Committee.

The seasonally adjusted number of total dwellings approved in Australia fell by 8.8% month-over-month to a six-month low of 15,220 units in March 2025, sharply missing market expectations of a 0.6% decline and accelerating from a marginally revised 0.2% drop. It marked the second consecutive monthly decrease and the steepest fall since June 2023, driven by declines in approvals for both private sector houses (-4.5% vs 1.1% in February) and private sector dwellings excluding houses (-15.1% vs -1.3%).

The Caixin China General Services PMI declined to 50.7 in April 2025, down from March's three-month high of 51.9 and below market forecasts of 51.7. It marked the softest expansion in the services sector since last September, as new orders grew at the slowest pace in 28 months, impacted by disruptions in goods trade amid new US tariffs. Meanwhile, new export business rose only fractionally, with some firms noting improved demand due to rising tourism activity. Employment declined for the second consecutive month amid concerns over rising costs. Regarding prices, input cost inflation accelerated to a three-month high, driven by higher staff expenses and raw material prices. Output prices dropped for the third consecutive month amid efforts to support sales in a highly competitive market. Finally, business sentiment weakened to the second-lowest level since data collection began in November 2005, due to concerns over the negative impact of shifting trade policy.

The HSBC India Services PMI was revised lower to 58.7 in April 2025, down from the preliminary estimate of 59.1. However, the figure remained above both the March reading and market expectations of 58.5, marking the 45th consecutive month of growth in services activity. The expansion was largely driven by a faster rise in new orders, with foreign sales increasing at the fastest pace since July 2024. As a result, output continued to grow, and employment rose for the 35th consecutive month. Moreover, the pace of job creation was strong and faster than in March. On the price front, input cost inflation eased to its softest pace in six months at the start of the 2025/26 fiscal year. Meanwhile, output price inflation accelerated as firms sought to pass higher costs on to clients. Lastly, business sentiment weakened to its lowest level in nearly two years amid concerns over rising competition.

The HCOB Germany Services PMI was revised slightly higher to 49 in April 2025 from a flash estimate of 48.8 but fell from 50.9 in the previous month. This marked the first contraction since November and the sharpest decline since February 2024, reflecting subdued demand and heightened customer caution amid ongoing economic and political uncertainty. New business decreased for the eighth consecutive month, with firms citing challenging economic conditions and tariff-related concerns as key factors. Meanwhile, employment continued to rise in April, accelerating for the second straight month and marking the fastest pace of job creation since May 2024. On the cost front, input prices picked up slightly from a five-month low in the previous month and remaining above its long-run average.

Services PMI In the Euro Area decreased to 50.10 points in April from 51 points in March of 2025. Services PMI in Euro Area averaged 51.50 points from 2007 until 2025, reaching an all time high of 59.80 points in July of 2021 and a record low of 12.00 points in April of 2020.

Neither this document nor any additional information which may subsequently be provided to a recipient shall constitute or form part of any offer, solicitation, invitation, advice or recommendation to sell or acquire any securities or assets.

Deep Data Analytics provides this financial advice as an honest and reasonable opinion held at a point in time about an investment's risk profile and merit and the information is provided by the Deep Data Analytics in good faith. The views of the adviser(s) do not necessarily reflect the views of the AFS Licensee. Deep Data Analytics has no obligation to update the opinion unless Deep Data Analytics is currently contracted to provide such an updated opinion. Deep Data Analytics does not warrant the accuracy of any information it sources from others. All statements as to future matters are not guaranteed to be accurate and any statements as to past performance do not represent future performance. Assessment of risk can be subjective. Portfolios of equity investments need to be well diversified and the risk appropriate for the investor. Equity investments in listed or unlisted companies yet to achieve a profit or with an equity value less than $50 million should collectively be a small component of a balanced portfolio, with smaller individual investment sizes than otherwise. Investors are responsible for their own investment decisions, unless a contract stipulates otherwise. Deep Data Analytics does not stand behind the capital value or performance of any investment.
