MARKET COMMENTARY

The Aussie market started positively and faded to finish slightly positively. The market was mainly run by global flow today. They were pushing up banks and miners for currency exposure. USD continues to tank as US economic worries keep rising. The NFP data in the US beat expectations but that hides historic restatements. They removed nearly 900k jobs from Apr 2024- Mar 2025. They removed tens of thousands of jobs over previous months at the end of 2025. The latest numbers suggest US averaged 15k job per month in 2025. finished flat as macro worries persist. That would make it the worst job creation in the US outside a recession cycle. If you are confused about why the markets are going up, it's being manipulated by major global passive funds to carry favour with the White House. Growth to value rotation has been running in Australia for more than 6 months while the US market started in recent months. Every growth investor is dealing with the reality of market cycle. Reporting season in Australia is not going to be a easy for growth stocks. The days of paying anything for growth are not today. It may be different this time!

CNBC – US Employment > Job growth was stronger than expected to start 2026, providing some relief to concerns about the state of the U.S. labor market. Nonfarm payrolls increased by 130,000 for January, above the Dow Jones consensus estimate for 55,000, according to seasonally adjusted figures the Bureau of Labor Statistics released Wednesday. The total also was an improvement over December, which saw a gain of 48,000 after a slight downward revision. The unemployment rate edged lower to 4.3%, below the forecast to stay unchanged at 4.4% from the prior month. A more encompassing measure that includes discouraged workers and those holding part-time positions for economic reasons slipped to 8%, down 0.4 percentage point from December.

CNBC – US and China > A year after U.S. President Donald Trump's tariffs spooked exporters and customers, Chinese factories and ports are buzzing with activity ahead of the Lunar New Year — even pushing freight rates higher. Chinese factory activity typically surges at the start of the year with manufacturers racing to fulfil orders and ship out goods before the country enters an extended holiday for the Chinese New Year. This year's pre-holiday rush appears as strong as ever despite Trump tariffs. Renaud Anjoran, founder and CEO of Agilian Technology, a Guangdong-based electronics manufacturer, said his factory was operating at nearly full capacity after a year of stop-start tariff threats: "We are very busy." "It's back to the situation where it's like tariffs don't exist. American customers are not thinking of [buying from] other places," Anjoran said, adding that some clients had to pay additional costs to have goods made and shipped out before the holiday.

Historically, 75% of retail investors have experienced losses during positive market periods. Investors are now facing market cycles that are unprecedented in their lifetime, making risk management a crucial aspect of investing. Going forward, the trend towards active investing is reemerging as investors seek quality, relative value, profitability, and dividends. To navigate this new paradigm, it's important to have an active investment strategy that is flexible and adaptable to changing market conditions!

The Australian sharemarket extended gains for a second session on Thursday, supported by a strong rally in bank stocks following an earnings beat from ANZ. The S&P/ASX 200 advanced 28.7 points, or 0.3%, to 9043.5, after briefly trading above its October record close. Afternoon weakness in technology stocks trimmed early gains, with only four of the 11 sectors finishing higher.

Financials led the market for a second consecutive day. ANZ surged 8.5% to a record $40.35, marking its strongest session in almost six years after delivering a first-quarter cash profit of $1.94bn, materially ahead of expectations. Profit rose 6%, driven largely by cost reductions from workforce restructuring under CEO Nuno Matos, which the market viewed as more aggressive and effective than anticipated. Commonwealth Bank added a further 5.4% to $178.74 following its result-driven rally on Wednesday, while Westpac rose 1.8% to $41 and NAB gained 2.3% to $46.54.

AMP was a notable laggard, plunging 26.7% to $1.28 – its largest intraday fall since 2003 – after missing expectations. The absence of a share buyback or capital return in Alexis George's final results as chief executive disappointed investors.

Global X ETFs investment strategist Marc Jocum said the earnings season had highlighted heightened stock-specific risk. "While the index is near record highs, the reporting season has been unforgiving for investors running concentrated positions. Beats are being rewarded sharply, while misses are heavily punished," he said.

Technology and software stocks came under renewed pressure, tracking weakness in US peers amid concerns about artificial intelligence disrupting traditional software models. WiseTech Global fell 6.6% to $47.57, Xero declined 8.4% to $76.92 and TechnologyOne dropped 6.9% to $21.70.

Healthcare heavyweight CSL weighed on the index, falling 6.9% to $152.19 and extending losses since Tuesday to almost 20%. The stock was downgraded by RBC and Morgan Stanley following an earnings miss and the abrupt departure of its chief executive. Elsewhere in reporting season, Temple & Webster slumped 32.6% to $7.64 after half-year net profit fell 36% to $5.76m, representing a 32% miss versus consensus.

Pro Medicus declined 23.9% to $129 after first-half revenue of $125m came in 5% below expectations, with underlying EBIT down 14%. ASX Ltd slipped 1.7% to $54.44 despite posting an 8.3% rise in half-year net profit to $263.6m, as a 20% increase in expenses offset headline growth.

In contrast, Origin Energy gained 3.9% to $11.50 after upgrading full-year energy markets EBITDA guidance to $1.55bn–$1.75bn, with investors overlooking a 36% fall in half-year profit to $593m. Northern Star rose 4% to $29.39 after reporting a 41% increase in half-year net profit to $714m and declaring an interim dividend of 25 cents.
